Magoon Resigns—Carreiro New SGA President

By Kimberly J. Murphy
News Editor

It is official. Student Government Association (SGA) President Daniel Magoon tendered his resignation this past week, to become effective on Friday, November 30, 1984. According to the Student Government Association Constitution, the First Vice-President "shall become the SGA President when and if the office becomes vacant upon the death, resignation, or removal of office." This means that David Carreiro will step into the shoes of the president and fulfill the respective duties, until he graduates this December. The Comment recently caught up with President Magoon to ask him exactly why he resigned and what he plans to do in the future, and with the new President to find out what he plans to do in the remaining two weeks left of his term.

Murphy: "I realize that you and The Comment, in general, have had their differences in the past. Their relevancy to the matter of your resignation, however, may or may not pertain to your reason for this action. This is up to you to say, as this is a straight news story — no commentary, no innuendo, etc., will be implied. If you do not, then the reader will have to decide for himself the relevancy of these past grievances with your decision. Why exactly did you resign?"

Magoon: "If it had (anything to do with) The Comment, I would have been gone long ago. I don't like the job — I liked being Attorney General...I liked the job (the presidency) because

Search and Seizure; Student Wants To Know What Is "Reasonable"

By John J. Beaton
Staff Writer

On Tuesday, November 27, 1984, Paul Elias, President of the Class of '87, discovered that his jacket, a bag filled with clothes, and jumper cables, were missing from his room at Shea/Durkin residence halls.

On Thursday, November 29, Mr. Gerard Stenerson, Staff Assistant for Housing (Division of Student Services), talked to Paul's friend Peter Cruickshank. Stenerson informed Cruickshank that Head Resident of Shea/Durkin, Tim Millerick, had found clothes and books of his in Elias' room at 520 Durkin.

According to Elias in a letter sent to Vice-President David P. Deep and Maureen Fitzgerald, Director of Housing: "When Peter and I went to Tim Millerick's office to see what was taken, I discovered that my jacket, my gym bag and clothes, my jumper cables, my book, and a notebook (which was Peter's) were in Millerick's possession. When I asked Tim why he entered my room when I was not present and took my belongings, he said that he was told to do this by Gerry Stenerson. The alleged reason for the search was that Cruickshank was illegally taking up residence in Elias' room.

Elias continued: "I am quite upset over this — for a couple of reasons. One is that I feel that to go into somebody's room and confiscate their belongings is not right, for any reason. Another reason is that Tim Millerick never asked for, or announced, a room inspection, and also, that I was never told by Millerick or anyone else until two days after I noticed that my belongings were missing."

According to Bridgewater State's Student Handbook, New Dimensions 1984-1985, p. 103 Residential Inspection and Search item 4: "Except in cases of imminent danger, or if the occupant cannot be located, the occupant will be invited to be present and will be informed of the reason for the examination." There were no signs of "imminent danger" and according to Elias he could have been easily located if Stenerson had only tried.

The incident involving Elias occurred less than a week after former Student Government president, Daniel Magoon, sent a proposal to Walter S. Siwik Jr., Chairman of the Student Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees (which was subsequently reviewed by Vice President Deep).

In the letter dated November 21, 1984, Magoon stated: "Under the 'Statement of Rights and Responsibilities' (a section in the Student Handbook, p. 52) we propose a change in item 4. The word unauthorized we find vague and overbroad. It should read 'unreasonable'. Under the current language a search may be unreasonable but could be authorized. We feel students should be free from unreasonable searches. The term unreasonable has been interpreted by courts so that citizens are aware of what their rights are."

Magoon continued, "Any searches of a dormitory room for safety and health reasons should be announced to all students to give them reasonable notice. Searches for any reason other than health and safety should not be allowed unless probable cause can be shown that a violation of school policies or state law has occurred. A student should be allowed to object to any evidence that was obtained illegally...."

Elias stated, "So what I would like to know is, how/why Tim Millerick, or any head resident, can enter my room and take my personal belongings without notifying me of a room inspection....And how do you justify Mr. Stenerson authorizing search and seizure of little more than my clothes?"

The Comment was not able to reach Student Services for response before press time. A follow-up story, including Administrative responses, will appear in next week's issue.

Student Leaders Speak Out Against Reduction of Spring Break

By Gregory Mathis
Staff Writer

The students at Bridgewater State College were polled last week during the registration period as to whether or not they feel the Christmas vacation should be extended by one week and Spring Break cut down to one week.

To get a general reaction, The Comment spoke with various student leaders on campus including Matthew Peter Donoghue, Student Trustee, David Carreiro former 1st Vice President of the SGA and current acting President, and Denis Lawrence, who has made the issue a campaign one in the upcoming election for 1st Vice President.

"A vacation of some length I believe is academically a good policy," said Trustee Donoghue. "It comes (Spring Break) during the busiest and longest semester and students become mentally and physically fatigued. Keeping Spring Break two weeks helps students come back refreshed to work."

The current President of the SGA, David Carreiro attended a university that had this policy implemented. "When I attended the University of Massachusetts, we had the entire month of January off and a one week break in March." Carreiro also pointed out that the one week vacation seemed rushed and that he has enjoyed the two week policy that is currently at

Election Notice
The upcoming election for First Vice-President will in actuality be for the position of the President of the Student Government Association (SGA). The circumstances that currently exist in the SGA are as follows: Dan Magoon has resigned from the Office of the President. Therefore, First Vice-President David Carreiro will become President. However, Carreiro is graduating at the end of this semester. This makes the winner of this First Vice-Presidential Election the President of the SGA.

Ralph Plotke

Hello,

My name is Ralph Plotke. I am running for the position of 1st Vice-President for the SGA. I have been interested in this job for a while and feel I have the best qualifications to uphold the position respectfully.

I have been a Senator-At-Large in 83/84, 84/85 and have complete knowledge of how the Student Government runs as a body. I am presently on the All-College Committee, the Ways and Means Committee, and I am the treasurer of the Greek Council. I also was the Homecoming Day parade coordinator.

I have a lot of things I would also like to see accomplished this year. I also have certain objectives I will be working on whether elected or not. I am working on a plus/minus grading system. I have worked to change the dorm eviction policy and am presently in the middle of fighting this battle, so that dorm students will be treated fairly. I would also like to work on improving the quality of the food in our cafeterias, as well as implimenting a 5 meal plan for commuters. I will also dedicate my time in the fight to get funding for the work on improved handicapped access on campus. This is an issue that's time is due. Every building should be completely accessible to the handicapped. My main goal though, is to see the Student Government work responsibly and effectively together. If this goal is obtained than we can all look forward to accomplishing our objectives. I hope you will remember me on election day. I leave you with only one promise and that is to do the best I possibly can.

Thank-you

Sincerely,
Ralph W. Plotke
Senator-At-Large

Bob Franco

I, Robert Franco, would like to take this time to announce my candidacy for the position of 1st Vice-President of the Student Government Association.

For far too long the needs of the students have been overlooked. This is because the SGA, the only voice the students have, has been as effective as an impotent whisper. It is time for the situation to change.

Time and time again we've heard from those with SGA "experience" that change will come. We've yet to see it. Campaign promises are soon forgotten. A change must come from the outside. Let's get some new blood in the SGA.

Each year the Administration announces record enrollment. Little, however, has been done to accomodate these numbers. We students are the bread and butter of the college, we supply the money that keeps it running. The college is here to serve the needs of the students and as far as I can see is failing in it's efforts to do so. We students are over five thousand in number, yet we are powerless. We need a voice that will speak out and be heard. With your help, I can be that voice. We are tired of being overcrowded and it's time we show just how fed up we are.

We need better parking facilities. These make-shift mud holes are not good enough. We pay enough for college. We don't need the extra car maintenance costs that these so called solutions to the parking problems bring. It also takes more time and effort to plow these lots. Decent parking lots could be cleared with more efficiency.

The situation in the cafeteria must be taken care of soon. The overcrowding is unbearable. I know this as both a student and an employee of Tilly. There is no need for this. An alternative must be realized and the sooner the better.

When I first came to Bridgewater, I was in a wheelchair. The frustration of a handicap student trying to get into a building that does not have the proper accessibility is overwhelming. Although some of the buildings have been converted, many still have not. The Handicapped Student Services has been fighting an uphill battle in this area for years. Where has the SGA been? If elected, I will see that definite changes are made with this situation. When a student is denied access to a building, the knowledge that could've been

Campaign Letters for the Office of First Vice President of the SGA

Hello,

My name is Jeff Nummelin, I am the Student Gov't Assoc. 2nd Vice President. I am writing to you in regards to the upcoming election for the First Vice-President seat. There are many people who are not aware of the situation at hand involved in this election. I would like to explain to those unaware what exactly is happening. The current First Vice-President David Carreiro is graduating in December and his seat is supposed to be what this election is for. The difference is the SGA President Daniel Magoon has just announced his resignation from his seat as President. What it all boils down to is the person elected to the seat of First Vice-President will automatically become the new SGA President for the remainder of the academic year. I myself will honor the role of First Vice-President until next semester when a new election for this seat will be held. The thing everyone must understand is you are actually electing a new SGA President. With this in mind, I feel there is only one logical choice from the three candidates that are seeking this

Denis Lawrence

My name is Denis Lawrence and I am running for the position of SGA First Vice-President.

I am presently serving as Senator-at-Large of the Student Government Association and feel that by now you have some idea of who I am and what I stand for. I want to emphasize the fact that all of my efforts as a Senator have been geared towards YOU, the students of BSC.

As a Senator, I am firmly opposed to the outrageous actions of many of my colleagues on the SGA; for instance, spending your money on the exclusive SGA parties. I have supported all efforts to make the SGA work more efficiently and will continue to do so. There is a definite need for your rights and opinions to be honored and when elected, I will make sure that each individual receives the proper support and recognition that he and she deserves.

It is important for you, the students, to know that the SGA is a group of students elected by you to make decisions that affect life here at the College. As First Vice-President, I will work with the Administration, the Board of Trustees, and the public officials to ensure both fair and equal representation.

I will continue to work towards obtaining any Federal funding that is available for the expansion of commuter parking facilities, and the paving of the Great Hill parking lot. I will also continue to fight to keep Spring Break from being shortened; fight for students rights concerning college disciplinary policies; work toward an itemization of deductions from dormitory damage deposits, and improved handicapped access to all college facilities.

I feel that implementing a plan for the installation of the Vali-dine Computer System would prove to be beneficial to the BSC community. When installed, the system would speed up long lines at Registration, Tilly, and during campus elections (which could possibly draw more students because of increased convenience); this would also improve security in the dormitories.

Finally, I will continue my monthly meetings with you, the student body, and periodically poll you to get your input before making major decisions. I believe all politicians should be held accountable to their constituents. It is important for you to remember that the person you elect as First Vice-President will become President of the SGA. As Senator-at-Large, I have been working on your behalf, and will continue to do so as First Vice-President and as President.

I appreciate your continued support.

VOTE
Denis Lawrence
First Vice-President

gained there is also denied. It is absolutely obscene for this to occur at an institution of learning. The SGA could be a powerful deterrent to this kind of tragedy.

Because of the larger enrollments each semester, more and more students are forced to live off campus. I feel that the school has an obligation to meet the needs of these students. Having lived off-campus myself, I know what those needs are. I would like to see a laundry room set up for off-campus students. The cost of doing laundry at the Plaza is double that of what dorm students pay. A campus laundromat would not have to make a profit, just pay for itself. The school accepted these students, now it's time for them to accomodate them.

Too often it seems, the energy and efforts of the SGA are spent dealing with trivial issues. Arguing over SGA exclusive dinner and beach parties only wastes time and delays the attainment of legitimate goals. Goals that would benefit the student body as a whole or correct the inadequacies found in present situations. It's time to deal with real issues. If you feel frustrated, feel like your needs aren't being met and would like to see some change in the caliber of your student government, I ask you to consider voting for me. I'll see that the students have a voice. I also want you to know that I will always be available to listen to your concerns. Come talk to me. I'll listen and represent you in your best interests. It's time for a change. I'll appreciate your vote. Together we can make it happen.

The Consequences of Drunk Driving

By Attorney Donald M. Hadge

The holiday season is now upon us and with it there will be many parties and functions with the accompanying drinking of alcohol. During these times of merriment the law enforcement agencies will have extra patrols and coverage on the public ways specifically to detect potential drunk drivers. When someone is arrested for drunk driving the police will normally request that they take a "Breathalyzer" test. Refusal to take a "Breathalyzer" test will result in an automatic 90 day suspension of your driving privileges in Massachusetts. The results of a "Breathalyzer" test (or Intoxilyzer) are admissible in court and, depending on the reading, they may be helpful or harmful to your case. A test result of .0 up to and including .05 creates a presumption that you are not under the influence and the law requires that you be released. A test result greater than .05 but less than .10 creates no presumption requiring you to go to trial to prove your innocence. A test result of .10 or greater creates a presumption that the driver was under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The question often asked is "Should I take the 'Breathalyzer' test?". There is no simple answer to this question. As a practical consideration, it should be noted that it is difficult to challenge the actual test result unless a scientist or other expert testifies in court. The "Breathalyzer" result will vary with the amount of alcohol consumed, the size of the person involved, whether or not the person has eaten and the timing of the last drink.

Obviously, the best advice I can give you is "Do not drink and drive", but that will not help you if you get stopped. Let me try to provide you with a few suggestions to avoid being charged with drunk driving. First of all, make sure your car is operating properly, especially brake lights, head lights, etc. Secondly, follow all rules of the road such as using your turn signals and stopping for all traffic control signals, even if it is 2:00 a.m. and no other cars are on the road. These may appear to be obvious rules to follow, but the majority of people arrested for drunk driving usually are initially stopped because of a minor motor vehicle violation. Always have your license and registration with you and readily accessible. If the police officer asks you to perform a "field sobriety test", such as reciting the alphabet or walking a straight line heel to toe, do so calmly and deliberately. Do not argue with the police officer, but if you feel that nervousness, high heels or some other factor hurt your performance, be sure to bring it to the attention of the police officer. However, if all fails, do not panic if you are arrested.

You should be aware that, absent extreme circumstances, most people who are arrested for drunk driving as "first offenders" will usually be subject to the following:

- 30 day loss of license.
- participation on and completion of an "Alcohol Education Program", and a - Requirement that they do not become involved in a similar offense or violate the law within a one (1) year period.

The drunk driving law which was revised and made tougher in 1982 only changed the consequences for a first offender by requiring a 30 day loss of license. The more serious consequences

The Campus Complainer Strikes Out!

Gee, after the sound-off by the News Editor, I was almost too intimidated to write. But I did just to show you Kimberly J. Murphy, there are members of the student body who do care and read The Comment. I'm one of them. I just hope I'm not too late.

I've got an idea and would like to spice up the paper-back to the good old days when the Shoe was in town. I am in no way involved with the SGA and will never be. What I'd like to do is complain. Complain about things on this campus that everyone complains about (and maybe get something done about them) or just complain for my own good. (I hope you like this idea, I promise it'll get better).

The first thing I'd like to complain about is something we are all guilty of: being obnoxiously loud in the library. The only time one can study on the second floor is during dinner time, but who can study on an empty stomach? It's great to have study groups, but when people are so loud and talkative that it disrupts any semblance of what a library should be, it defeats the purpose.

Another thing which bugs the heck out of me is when the little neighborhood kids play hide and go seek in the Library. Not only is it distracting (they come in and play during dinnertime), it is dangerous. Once I saw a near disaster of an entire bookshelf knocked over. And there's one little brat who always comes in with his football and tosses it around. Worse yet, some of the students get up and have a pass with this kid. I'm shocked! I guess college is full of big boys majoring in being little boys.

Soda's are fine in the library. So is candy, gum and chips. But a whole meal? You bet! Some people think the library is a cafeteria. I've seen people eating sandwiches, subs and even cold pizza. That's pretty rude! To those of you who do this, the commuter cafeteria is right next door in the Student Union. Go there and enjoy your lunch. You'd make a lot of people happy.

The worst thing I've seen in the library and by far the most rude and disgusting is people who decide to smoke wherever the feel like it. Last year during finals I was studying quietly minding my own business when my nose starts to detect the ever-permeating stench of cigarette smoke. In the middle of the second floor, this woman lights up and stinks up the entire room. Why didn't you go downstairs in the lounge or at least in the bathroom? Were you too lazy to move your carcass and decided to ruin the air for everyone in the room? Keep your habits to yourself lady, whoever you are. Smoke gives me a headache I could do without. Analysis is one I have to live with.

The only other complaints I have with the library is the fact that the copy machine on the second floor is out of order more than it works, and that the clocks are hidden so well that you have to keep asking people what time it is so not to be late for class.

So students, PLEASE, PLEASE, pretty please remember what the library is supposed to be: a quiet place where students can study and play the game called college with a little better odds.

Till next time:

The Campus Complainer

P.S. Hey Comment staff: Chin-up! You're doing great work. We just have to work at you people getting money and credits for your wonderful work. Anybody care to help????

Editorial

Gregory C. Mathis
Editor-In-Chief

It's again time for the students of Bridgewater State College to exercise their right to vote. With SGA President Dan Magoon resigning and First Vice President David Carreiro graduating in December, the executive structure of the SGA must again be defined by the students.

The majority of elections on this campus are popularity contests, without regard to issues. However the issues are the most important aspect of this campaign. First put aside the similarities of each candidate. Each of the three would like to continue to fight for student rights and the eviction policy. Handicapped Awareness is also a common issue. The commuter parking issue has caused a bit of confusion. As was reported last week, Denis Lawrence has been working on the state and federal level (with the help of his father State Representative Denis Lawrence) to get funding to expand parking facilities on campus. This is the most any Senate member has attempted in the last year. As has been pointed out, Dan Magoon promised a Commuter Coalition in his campaign and that was never formed by him. It took interested students to get it moving. Kim Murphy and freshman Senator Brian Jenney. So it is hard to believe the other candidates when they say they will work harder for commuters. For me, Lawrence has shown what he is willing to do for them.

One of the best issues Ralph Plotke has brought up in his campaign is the 5 meal plan for commuters. I contacted Mr. Edward Gorman, Campus Manager of Food Services about the feasibility of such a plan and he responded that it was "realistic" and that "I liked that idea." However, I am hesitant to believe that this promise will ever materialize. It has been used as a campaign promise before. I have in mind specifically Jeff Nummelin's campaign letter in the April 26, 1984 issue of The Comment. His first promise was to complete the tennis court project which was completed. His second was to "initiate a 5 meal/week plan for commuters." I guess what I'm saying is that it is a good promise if it is kept.

Bob Franco's major issue that is different from the others is the lighting on campus. Franco's flyer states, "Presently, these poorly lit areas pose a potential danger to students. A better lit campus would benefit everyone!"

As most of you who read this column know, I am supporting Denis Lawrence in this campaign for First Vice President. Lawrence is interested in installing a Vali-Dine Computer ID System which would replace the meal ticket, and have many more advantages as mentioned in his flyer. This shows that Lawrence is looking beyond the issues that are brought up again and again and looking to try out some new ideas.

However, I challenge you as a concerned student to listen to what each candidate has to say and base your judgements on the issues. Please remember to vote in the primaries today and tomorrow until 3:00 p.m. and in the finals on the 10th and 11th of this month.

Endorsement Letter from the Student Trustee

Dear Fellow Student:

Since the person you choose to fill the position of First Vice President of the Bridgewater State College Student Government Association (SGA) will become the SGA President in January, it is important that your choice have a proven record of genuine leadership ability.

I am supporting Denis Lawrence's candidacy for that position. I have known Denis since I came to Bridgewater, now more than two years ago. Denis is currently serving in the SGA as your Senator-At-Large and -perhaps more so than anyone else on the Senate - he has worked in your best interests.

Denis has been instrumental in focusing attention on Commuter Student issues, which have been all but ignored by many in the SGA as well in the College Administration and in state politics. He is currently lobbying for state and federal monies for expanded commuter parking facilities, and with a positive response. In the Senate, Denis supported the establishment of a Bridgewater chapter of the State Student Association of Massachusetts (SSAM), the student interest organization which successfully cut the Board of Regents' 15% tuition increase by half, saving students across the state an average of $65 each. Denis' support of the SSAM/Bridgewater Chapter has helped to strengthen the statewide student network. On the Senate, Denis has voted against motions to spend your money on beach parties and dinners exclusively for SGA officials. In short, he is looking out for you!

Denis possesses exceptional leadership skills. A junior Communications Studies major, Denis is currently serving a term as New Bedford Ward Committeeman, and is a recent recipient of the Mayoral Citation for his outstanding contribution to community service.

I hope you will take the time to cast your vote for our future SGA President. The primary election will be on Monday and Tuesday, December 3 and 4; the final election on Monday and Tuesday, December 10 and 11; voting will take place between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. in front of the Bookstore in the Student Union Building.

Denis Lawrence: "A leader...for a change"? You bet!

Please share this letter with a friend. Thank you for your consideration.

Most Sincerely,
Matthew Peter Donoghue
Student Trustee

In Response to: The News Editor Sounds Off

An open letter to The Comment and the college community:

As a former writer, photographer, staff person (layout, proof-reading, typing, etc...), and Contributing Editor for The Comment (1977-1981), I have only one repartee to "The News Editor Sounds Off": you have managed to say what every staff person, probably from Vol. I No. 1, has always wanted to say at one time or another. Give 'em hell people 'cause nobody else will! And yes, you are probably very right: the student body won't give a * until you are gone.

I must admit that it is a dark day in BSC History. The Comment has always been staffed by very competent, hard-working, dedicated, caring people. We have all, at least once, decided to call it quits. But somewhere along the way, we have changed our minds and kept on keeping on. It's all a part of life.

Since my graduation in 1981, I have been following the paper weekly (black market copies) and have not always liked what I have seen. But that is not the issue here. The key issue is that no one gives a damn and that's a shame. The student body is always the last to pat you on the back but is the first to castigate you when you foul up. I hate to say it but "get used to it gang, because the real world ain't much different."

As far as the SGA goes, The Comment has a long history of fueds with this "prestigious" organization. The Hatfields and the McCoys looked like Romeo and Juliet compared to the SGA and The Comment come budget time. Maybe they can run the newspaper for awhile. After all they are the "publishers". Good luck SGA 'cause you're sure gonna need it!

I'm sure if other ex-Comment staffers knew of the quandary of the paper, they'd say the same thing: it's a shame but who can blame them. There's a time in your life when you say enough is enough and, for the 1984-1985 Comment staff, that time is now! You've made your proverbial bed and now the college community will watch as the last shovels of dirt are placed on The Comment's Grave.

Here's one last pitch for new blood to help save The Comment: I spent four good years with The Comment, loved spending my time there and do not regret one minute of it. Sure it's hard work. Sure you don't get paid for it or receive college credit. But it gives a wonderful feeling of accomplishment that you've done something important. That's the best reason for joining - the proud feeling you get, the tingle down your spine when you see your work in print.

Secondly, there's the people. The Comment has a time honored tradition for being staffed by certified crazy people who use the paper as a way of letting off steam. They say that opposites attract. Well, in my experience, I can tell you that likes also attract and that you'll never meet a bunch of people as dedicated (who else would work until all hours of the morning putting out a paper in time to beat the dreaded deadline?)

Finally, it is a fantastic experience for you. Currently, I am editing (i.e. shaping the whole thing together) Bay Views, the bi-monthly newsletter of the Bay Colony Historical Modelers. I have just begun work on my third novel, the first two of which I began writing while attending Bridgewater State College. I am proud of my life and a lot of attitudes, political thinking and beliefs have stemmed from the people I met during my time with The Comment.

But I'm sure that you've heard this before from various members of the staff of this paper and, then again, you may not even be reading this. That's all well and good. But let's see who's crying the most come the second semester when there's no place to put your Valentine's Day personals. Who'll be crying then? It certainly won't be the members of this paper. That I can most certainly promise you.

I've said all I have to say and can only finish up by saying that I am behind the members of The Comment 100% and, to the members of the Bridgewater State College student body - you have my sympathies. But don't say that you didn't see the writings on the wall much earlier than this.

Dear Editor,

In my recent article: "The News Editor Sounds Off" (The Comment, November 19, 1984 Vol. LVIII No. 26), I neglected to mention a vital member of our "team" - Roberta "Bobbi" Bena. Without her dedicated help every week, and her expertise when it comes to advertising we would be more than just overworked - we would be absolutely broke!!

I hope that she is not offended by my unintentional oversight and that I, along with the rest of the "gang" appreciate her services more than words can express and money can buy (although a raise might be more than warmly accepted by Bobbi).

Even though we are leaving our official posts at The Comment, we will be back - either just to hang around and help out the "new kids on the block", chat or gossip, (whichever is more fun). I know, through personal experiences that Bobbi will be there, giving a helping hand or letting us "old-timers" read her newspapers and magazines (remember "I BOMBED OREGON" and "REVENGE OF THE HEADLESS PRIEST?")

Bobbi, you will be one of those parts of The Comment that I will miss the most.

position. I would like to openly support Ralph Plotke, and urge you all to also vote for him. My reasons for supporting Ralph are simple. He is the only experienced person running for this seat, and knows the most about the issues the President must face.

Although I have known and liked Bob Franco for three years and am a fraternity brother of Denis Lawrence's, I feel neither of these men have the experience or know how to be elected to the seat of President.

Ralph Plotke has been on the SGA since the 83-84 academic year. He is presently on the All-College Committee as well as the Ways and Means subcommittee. He is also the treasurer of the Greek Council. Ralph has worked hard, especially this year on events such as Homecoming, and the dorm eviction policy issues. I feel Ralph Plotke is the candidate who will do the job that is needed to be done. I would like to ask you all to remember him on Election Day.

SincerelyYours,
Jeff Nummelin
Second Vice-President

Dear Editor,

Three cheers for Kim Murphy's news article. It is about time that someone said something about the severe lack of involvement on our campus paper.

People should indeed be made aware of the fact that the burden of putting The Comment together rests with very few people. For a college this size, that's a sad note. People are constantly complaining about what is or isn't being done and yet they have the chance to voice their opinions in the form of a publication. But do they? No, they're just content, with continuously complaining.

For this time consuming, frustrating job, there is no form of compensation, which brings us to the question - why do they do it; perhaps for the sheer fun of it? Hardly! Their purpose is to keep us informed, but how informed are we when a weeks worth of work is found lying on the ground around school??

I only hope that Greg, Debbie, Kim, and the rest of the crew have enough energy left in them to be able to move on to bigger and better things. Once they move on (to another newspaper job?!), The Comment will go with them. Good luck guys and the best wishes where ever you may venture. There is, after all, life after The Comment.

Sincerely,
Janet Coffey

Dear Editor:

"A Theater Gala" To be held for Professor Barnett

A Gala to be held on Sunday evening, December 9, at Bridgewater State College, is an appropriate farewell to Professor Robert Barnett of the Theater Department who retires at the end of December after a career spanning 27 years.

When Bridgewater State was still relatively small and predominantly a teacher's college, Professor Barnett began his career in 1957. During the next 27 years - ten of them as chairman of what is now the Department of Speech Communication, Theater Arts, and Theater Disorders, and ten as Dean of the Division of Humanities - he saw Bridgewater State expand its enrollment many times over and become the multidisciplinary state college it is today.

Professor Barnett first began at Bridgewater State as a Speech class instructor, and then he initiated the first theater course, Play Production. From this beginning grew the popular and respected Theater concentration, which each fall and spring puts on a major performance enthusiastically attended by college personnel, the student body, and the community at large.

Recently, Professor Barnett recalled some of his more memorable productions: the first musical, Hit the Deck with Professor Vince Gannon of the Music Department, which filled the house, running for two nights in the Horace Mann Auditorium, with the largest audience ever at Bridgewater State; A Man For All Seasons and The Tempest - both very successful; Oklahoma, the first show done in the new Student Union Auditorium; Our Town, "the classic American play"; The Crucible - "five members of the cast were descendants of the characters in the play - that really reminded me that I was in New England." And King Cole, the children's show which he wrote and directed: "I loved doing that. To have the figment of the idea in your mind, and to write it, and then have it come full-blown on the stage, is exciting."

Professor Barnett considers himself "one of the lucky ones" - someone who has been fortunate enough to have spent his working life at something he enjoys doing. In his energetic fashion, he appears to be looking forward to life after Bridgewater State. Although he plans to do some consulting, he says he is retiring to write. "I have a number of plays that have been published and I want to publish some more, but if you're going to publish you have to keep at it; you've got to have time to write and do rewrites." He and his wife, Esther, are looking forward to the luxury of being able to hop in the car and take off to the West Coast when the urge strikes them. Travel is a big part of their future plans and a trip to the Caribbean is near the top of the list.

A Theater Gala, celebrating Professor Barnett's twenty-seven years of Theater at Bridgewater State will be held on Sunday, December 9, at 7:00 p.m. in the Horace Mann Auditorium of Bridgewater State College. The Gala will feature Bridgewater State alumni reviving the roles they played as undergraduates. There will be songs and scenes from Our Town, Hamlet, Hello Dolly!, and Fiddler on the Roof to name a few. A reception for the performers will follow the Gala in the rotunda of Boyden Hall.

The Gala tickets are $7.50 and are available from the Theater Business Office, open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m. in the lobby of the Student Union Auditorium. For Reservations and more information, call 697-1321.

"Those Golden Oldies" Live On

By Scooter Livingston
Contributing Writer

Okay, okay. I know you've had it up to here with AC/DC, Boy George, and Michael (yech) Jackson. Wonder when you can hear the good old days? When Rock and Roll was Rock and Roll? Those oldies but goodies? Fear not, for it is as close as your radio on the weekends.

The best oldies show around has to be Dick Bartley's "Solid Gold Saturday Night". This live oldies request show, with a toll-free request line, is beamed by satellite to all over the country, carried live locally by WPJB in Providence from 7 p.m. to midnight. The tunes are excellent as are the contests and quizzes on his show. You request the song from, as Bartley puts it, "the golden age of Top 40" and odds are he's got it. I've gotta admit, I never knew Ozzy Osborne played with the Magic Lanterns, or that Eddy Grant was lead singer of The Equals until I listened to Dick Bartley. And if you get a song played and you want to hear it again, well, WROR in Boston carries "Solid Gold Saturday Night" at midnight by a tape delay.

Speaking of WROR, well, what can you say about Joe Martell's "Saturday Night Live at the Oldies" that hasn't been said? You know you've got it on when you hear the famous Tony from Everett make his weekly request. Martelle, along with his able assistant Leslie make his show fun. Two Boston request lines, and toll-free lines from anywhere else in New England. Believe me, I've worn down two fingers trying to call in!

If "American Graffiti" is your thing, well, you can check out Wolfman Jack's "Golden Graffiti" from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. on WPRO-FM. The only drawback is that it is on tape, but the old Wolfman grows along, and it is refreshing to hear.

If you're cruising along in a car with no FM radio, don't despair. WHDH has the World Famous Jim Sands Oldies Show, Saturdays from 7 p.m. to midnight and Sundays from 4 to 7 p.m. The only problem is, if you don't refer to him as "The World Famous Jim Sands", he won't play your requests. If out-of-state listening is your thing, check out Tom Donahue's "Saturday Night Oldies" out of WKBW (1520) in Buffalo. And yes, an AM station does carry Dick Bartley, WBT (1110) out of Charlotte:

Sunday morning gives us "The Saturday Morning Oldies Show" out of Manchester on Rock 101, WGIR-FM, and if Hardcore 50's is your thing, check out "Street Corner Serenade" on Harvard's WHRB (95.3) with Stompin' Zemo as your host. The other well-known 50's persons are "Little Walter and His Time Machine", Sundays from 10 p.m. to midnight on WFNX (101.7), and Vox Foxi with "A Shot of R&B" on WATD (95.9) in Marshfield, 8 p.m. to midnight, also on Sundays. All three shows feature those rarities from the 50's.

But are there any full-time oldies stations? Well, WCGY in Lawrence used to be "Blue Suede Radio", but alas no more! Oh, they still play oldies, but hearing The Coasters back to back with Boy George just doesn't cut it. But if you are going to New York, WCBS-FM is a dream come true. Listening to them brings back days of the old WBZ, WMEX (now WMRE) and WRKO (yes, they used to be rock stations!).

So, if you've ever wondered what the old days of rock and roll were like, check out the shows I've mentioned. You'll be glad you did. See ya!

NOT THE DAILY COMICS

Records in Review

By Audrey Little

Aztec Camera: Knife. This is the second album from this excellent British group, and it's another collection of melodic pop tunes, featuring lots of great guitar playing and Roddy Frame's rather melancholy vocals. (I remember that when their first album, High Land, Hard Rain, came out, I couldn't believe that a group this good could be led by a 19-year-old.) Good cuts include "Still on Fire", "All I Need is Everything", "The Birth of the True" (just Roddy and his guitar) and "Knife", a tune which really shows the influence of producer Mark Knopfler (of Dire Straits fame). Also, be sure to pick up the single "All I Need is Everything", because the B-side has their cover of Van Halen's "Jump" - it's an absolute riot.

Carmel: The Drum Is Everything. I like this album, but I'm not who I could recommend it to - it's not for people into Top 40. Their sound is eclectic, with influences including jazz, reggae, torch songs and African tribal music, such as in "The Prayer". "More, More, More" is a tune which anybody would like, and "Willow Weep for Me" and "Tracks of My Tears" are also good tunes.

Comateens: Deal With It. This is an album of fun-party-dance-New-Wave-ish music. It's kind of lightweight but it's a lot of fun. Good cuts include "Resist Her", "Deal With It", and "Nightmare".

Freur: Doot-Doot. Don't let the album's silly name and the group's weird haircuts fool you. This is a really good album of (mostly) subdued technopop music. The vocals and music are beautiful, and sound especially good in headphones. "Doot-Doot", "Whispering" and "All Too Much" are good tunes, although every tune on this album is good. Recommended for late-night listening by people into interesting musical sounds.

Ministry: "All Day" and "Everyday (Is Halloween)". This was one of those 12-inch singles that I just had to have. Both tunes are great, but "Everyday (Is Halloween)" should be especially meaningful to those who are sick of being harassed because of the way they dress or act. The lyrics are really great: "Why can't I live a life for me, why should I take the abuse that's served, why can't they see it just like me, I'm not the one who's so absurd...it's the same in the whole wide world?" Anyone who's ever tried to be an individual will be screaming "It's my theme song!"

The Smiths: Hatful of Hollow. If you like Aztec Camera, you'll love The Smiths. This album includes material from their debut album The Smiths, in recordings from BBC Radio 1 shows, and other tunes, for a total of sixteen songs. I love the pretty guitar playing, and the vocals, although lead singer Morrissey's vocals might take a while to get used to. My favorite tunes are "This Charming Man", "Heaven Knows I'm Miserable Now", and "Back to the Old House", which on this album has Morrissey backed only by a guitar - it's a beautiful arrangement.

To Drink or to Drive? Commentary from p. 3

come into play in second and third offense situations which impose mandatory jail terms and fourteen (14) day commitments to the State Hospital in Rutland for intensive alcohol treatment.

One further point to consider is that the police do not need a "Breathalyzer" test to obtain a conviction for drunk driving. In most cases, testimony by the officer that "the defendant was observed operating a car in an erratic fashion, had an odor of alcohol on his breath, had glass eyes and slurred speech and was unsteady on his feet" will be sufficient to gain a conviction.

In summary, only you will know if a "Breathalyzer" test will be very high since you know how much you had to drink. Be mindful of all factors mentioned in this article, but be aware that unique facts in your case should be taken into account. I will be available in the Student Government Association office during my posted hours and will be happy to meet with any student or student groups or clubs to provide further information on this subject.

I would like to wish everyone a happy healthy and safe holiday season and hope to meet with you in the future.

I could advocate things for the student body. As President, people look up to you — people listen to you, even if they think you're an ass...but they listen. As President I could get things done, like changing the eviction policy. I wanted to do this as Attorney General, but I hadn't the power. (Also), the job took up too much of my time. I am a sensitive guy and I do things all of the way...now I can give all of my energies to my studies; I don't have to do dinky jobs (for example, if a letter was written to Magoon, for any reason, he had to respond as soon as possible)...it got on my nerves. I didn't get paid, I didn't get credits (unlike other campuses). "I learned something this year — how to deal with people. It's such a trite phrase but it is true. I also learned how things run — how to make things better. Get the feel on how to advocate things. Also my public speaking got better — say things slow — that's the thing."

Murphy: "During the SGA meeting you mentioned that you have had health problems. What exactly are they — are they serious?"

Magoon: "I have been ill. I don't want to talk about it, it's my business."

Murphy: "What will you be doing next semester now that you will not be involved with SGA?"

Magoon: "(I'll be) working on things next semester: a co-op; the weight room; try to look into commuter issues (such as parking). (Also I) will look into why the school (seems) to be allowing too many students into it. But I can't spread myself too thin — that's why I am leaving (the Presidency)."

Murphy: "Now that you are leaving, officially, do you have any sort of parting words or thoughts before you go?"

Magoon: "I enjoyed it — (I gained) valuable experience. I got to know people, develop friendships which is very, very, very pleasant."

Carreiro, who looked more than frantic when The Comment caught up to him, responded that he had a few definite things that he wanted to see accomplished before he left in December.

Murphy: "What do you intend to do in your last three weeks?"

Carreiro: "Survive. Things are getting hectic, unnecessarily so..."

"On Wednesday, December 5, at 4:30 p.m., I'll be appearing before the Student Union Board of Governors. They, hopefully, will approve the relocation of the Student Government offices to what is presently the Campus organization offices. If approved, the work should be completed at the start of the second semester.

"Wednesday, and Thursday (December 5 and 6), the SGA will be collecting non-perishable food items directly across from The Comment between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. All food collected will be given to the S.H.A.R.E. project.

"Hopefully the Senate will approve my proposed Senate Committee changes on Tuesday night.

"My ultimate goal is to keep the ship steady until my successor is elected. I will be looking forward to making the transition as easy as possible for the newly elected President. The beauty of Student Government is (that) no matter how important you think you are, you can and will be replaced eventually."

The Program Committee is Working For You!

The Student Union Program Committee is a dynamite group of 24 students who combine their talents to bring Bridgewater State some of the finest events available in New England.

The Program Committee is divided into four general subcommittees; Entertainment, Communications, Fine Arts and Educational Services. Each subcommittee is allotted a limited budget for the fiscal school year and uses the money to create student activities. A heavy majority of the activities are subsidized by the Program Committee in order to reduce the price of events to the students of Bridgewater State.

The Entertainment subcommittee has recently presented bands and disc-jockeys in the Rat as well as Ballroom events such as "Metro Night." This is where two giant video screens accompanied by the latest videos in stereo, provided a fun night for all. Looking forward, the Entertainment subcommittee will be presenting "The Commuters" this Thursday December 7th.

The Communications Subcommittee has presented very successful lectures with author Tom Wolfe ("The Right Stuff") as well as author and head hunter, Dick Irish who spoke about the job market, supporting his latest novel Go Hire Yourself an Employer providing practical advice for all on job hunting. Communications is looking forward to a lecture with Vern Jarad, Channel 7 News Anchor and host of Meet the Press in February.

The Fine Arts subcommittee sponsors the Art Gallery on the third floor of the Union and presented the smashing success "A Christmas Carol" by the Nebraska Theatre Caravan last Friday, November 30th. Fine Arts is looking forward to a rare piano performance by Bridgewater State's own Henry Santos in February as well as the Chinese Magic Circus in May.

The Educational Services subcommittee has presented dynamic events such as hypnotist James Mapes as well as the always successful New York City bus trip held last Saturday, Dec. 1.

Educational Services is currently working on two trips; Smugglers Notch during winter break and an undisclosed trip still in the making for Spring Break (possibly the Bahamas).

It's true that the Program Committee presents great events that benefit BSC students in many aspects, but the nicest thing about the P.C. is that they work as a team — to bring Bridgewater State some of the finest events around.

Senator-At-Large Denis Lawrence also agrees with these points, but points to the tradition of Spring Break as another angle to view this debate. "The idea of Spring Break has become a tradition in just about every university and college in the United States," said Lawrence. "Whether or not you go to Florida, the Bahamas, work or rest, the fact of the matter is, students look forward to those two weeks in March."

Some of the pros of the extended week in January can be balanced off with cons. Students argue that the extra week will give them an extra pay check. That is balanced out by others saying that that time could be made up with the two weeks in March.

The Comment will keep you up to date on the final decision that is reached concerning this issue.

BSC All-Stars Named

Bridgewater State College recently had seven fall athletes selected to various all conference teams in New England.

From a field hockey team that went (10-2-4) on the year and competed in the ECAC championship, three players were selected to the MASCAC all conference team. Honored were senior goalkeeper Lynne Bennett (Chelmsford, MA) who finished with an incredible (0.44) goals against average and nine (9) shutouts. Senior forward Denise Davis (Plymouth, MA), the team's leading goal scorer (8) and captain Marcia Good (Plymouth, MA) were also named to the team.

Davis also was selected to the "regional" All American team by the College Field Hockey Coaches' Association and was honorable mention as a "national" All American.

In women's volleyball (13-5) the Lady Bears placed two setters on the MASCAC all conference squad. Both senior captain Cara LaConti (Lynnfield, MA) and junior Christine Thomason (Attleboro, MA) made the team for the first time.

In football (2-7) the Bears had sophomore punter Gary Camarillo named to the New England Football Conference (NEFC) all conference team. Gary led the NEFC in punting with a 37.0 average. Junior defensive tackle Bob Fries (Whitman, MA) was an honorable mention all conference selection.

Section 32

By Jack Murray

Staff Writer

Well as 1984, and this semester comes to an end, so does my contribution to Section 32. Due to academic pressures in the upcoming semester I will be unable to participate in this endeavor. This column along with its writer has changed since its inception. The foundations of this column lay in the early days of September, when everyone was scrambling around preparing for the first edition of the year. Being a novice to newspaper, but willing to participate, I was given the task to come up with a type of Will McDonough, off-beat view of the latest sport happenings. As this column developed, so did I, and Section 32 became a part of myself, a part I was willing to share with anyone willing to listen...I mean read. I'm proud of Section 32, both column and content. I hoped it served a purpose, whether to agree or disagree with, to inform, to improve your reading skills, to help you win millions on football cards, to use as a lining to your birdcage or just to enjoy.

However this was not a one-man effort. The constant help, assistance and brains(or lack of) of many of my friends and colleagues helped me in more ways than I can think of.

To those of you who listened to me rant and rave, thanks. To those who motivated me to get the damn column in before the printers came to pick up the copy, Greg, thank you.

To the people who read my column(Hi Mom), I thank you. I always heard some sort of feedback. You didn't have to agree with what I believed, but you weren't supposed to. But you never let me down. You never gave me any negative feedback. You always backed me up and supported my right to free speech.

To my friends who listened to me and praised me when you were probably bored to tears, you won't have to put up with that anymore.

To all, I wish the best with finals, the Holidays, and next semester, may they be the best yet!

But most of all, a special thanks to Plymouth-Carver High School's gymnasium for the use of and the inspiration for Section 32.

Hoopsters Win Tourney

If the turkey tasted good on Thanksgiving the leftovers tasted even better for the members of the BSC men's basketball team as they polished off Suffolk University and Babson College to win the annual Babson Invitational in Wellesley last weekend.

The Bears, winless going into the tournament, played inspired basketball against Suffolk in the opening round downing the legal beagles (87-73). Junior Bob DiBari led all scorers with 25 points, followed by freshman Steve Pendenza (19) and co-captain Mark Dias (16).

The Bears followed that up with an even better effort against host Babson stunning the Beavers (78-65). Mark Dias took scoring honors this time with (25) points. Workhorse Steve Pendenza chipped in with (19) and 12 rebounds. The real story of this game was the play of freshman point guard John Souza who controlled the offense like a veteran dishing out nine assists. He constantly defied the Babson press getting the ball up the court without any mistakes.

For an outstanding weekend Mark Dias was named "Most Valuable Player" of the tourney. Pendenza was named to the "all tourney" team for his outstanding inside work.

pagne was extremely pleased with his team's performance. "We're starting to play more as a team now. We improved so much even in just one night, from the Suffolk to the Babson game. The guys are playing with a lot more confidence and a lot more praise. It was a good win for all of us."

Freshman players who performed well in addition to Souza and Pendenza were Rich McGuire, Jeff Barry, Frank Sinewick and Chuck Jaehnig. With the constant improvement of this group, this is going to be a fun bunch to watch for seasons to come.

There's a lot of new faces on the Bears bench this season.
